

Emergency Preparedness is subject of radio interview

Delaware Emergency Management Agency (DEMA) Director Jamie Turner will be interviewed on Wilmington, Delaware radio station WJBR-FM (99.5), on Sunday, July 15, 2012, at 6:30 AM.

The pre-recorded interview, conducted by morning show personality Charlie Maxx will be heard on the public affairs program, "Focus On Delaware".

Maxx and Director Turner will discuss emergency preparedness, and give important tips on how individuals should prepare personal emergency plans for their families. He will also talk about the items that should be included in family emergency preparedness kits, and how the decision to order an evacuation during storms is reached, and how the public should respond.

The interview can also be accessed online under "My.Podcasts" at <http://wjbr.com/dj/john-charlie-morning>.
